Overview

The Statement of Business Ethics (the Statement) provides guidance for all sectors of the community conducting business with the City of Perth (the City). It outlines the City’s ethical standards and expectations that goods and service providers and contractors are to adhere with in any dealings with the City. The Statement also outlines what goods and service providers and contractors can expect from the City.

City of Perth’s Key Business Principles

Ethics and Integrity
All City business relationships are honest, respectful, responsible, ethical, fair and consistent. All parties involved in business activities with the City must operate with integrity and maintain high standards of ethical conduct to maintain sound decision-making processes and ensure community confidence and trust in the City.

Transparency and Accountability
Business activities are to be open, transparent and comply with relevant legislation and the City’s policies, procedures and practices. The City’s business dealings will be transparent and open to public scrutiny wherever possible.

Value for Money
Value for money is an overarching principle governing business that allows the best possible outcome to be achieved for the City. Compliance with specifications is more important than obtaining the lowest price.

Sustainability
The City is committed to setting up efficient, effective, economical and sustainable procedures in all purchasing activities and to consider the environmental and social impacts when purchasing goods and services.
What to expect from the City

All City employees, elected members, committee members, goods and service providers and contractors are accountable for their actions and are expected to:

• Deal fairly, ethically, lawfully honestly and transparently with all individuals and organisations;

• Act in a professional and responsible manner and respect others to meet a high standard of behaviour;

• Protect and responsibly manage the resources of the City;

• Protect confidential information;

• Utilise opportunities to achieve continual social, economic and environmental improvement in operations and activities carried out by and on behalf of the City;

• Disclose any situation that involves or could be perceived to involve a conflict of interest;

• Immediately report any unethical behaviour (actual or perceived); and

• Not seek or accept any financial or other benefits for performing official duties.

What the City expects from goods and service providers and contractors

The City expects that all goods and service providers and contractors will:

• Ensure familiarisation and compliance with the Statement;

• Ensure up-to-date awareness of and compliance with legislative requirements and best practice standards, including Occupational Safety and Health, when undertaking work for, or supplying goods and services to, the City;

• Act ethically, honestly and fairly when dealing with the City;

• Provide reliable advice and accurate information upon request;

• Take all necessary measures to prevent the disclosure of confidential information;

• Take all necessary steps to ensure materials and equipment used in the provision of goods and services are carbon neutral in their manufacture, supply, and maintenance;

• Take all necessary steps to ensure the supply of goods and services is sourced in an ethical and sociably responsible manner;

• Not engage in any form of collusion;

• Not make any statement or behave in any way that could mislead anyone to believe that they are representing the City, or expressing City views or policies without the appropriate authority;

• Not offer City employees, elected members, committee members, goods and service providers, contractors, sub-contractors and consultants any financial inducements, or any other incentives, gifts or benefits (including employment);

• Declare any actual, perceived or potential conflicts of interest;

• Notify the City immediately if there are any errors or omissions in documents; and

• Immediately report any unethical behaviour (actual or perceived).
Why Compliance is important?

By complying with the Statement, all sectors of the community undertaking business with the City will be able to advance objectives and interests fairly and ethically.

Non-compliance with the City's ethical requirements when doing business with the City and/or improper or unethical conduct can lead to negative consequences. This can include, but is not limited to, termination of contracts, exclusion from procurement and business activities, or loss of future work with the City.

Overall business reputations can also be detrimentally affected if corrupt and criminal behaviour is made public. Complying with the City’s business principles will also prepare businesses for dealing with the ethical requirements of other local governments and public-sector agencies.

Practical Guidelines

Incentives, gifts and benefits

The City’s employees, elected members, committee members, goods and service providers and contractors are expected to behave with integrity. No City employee, elected member or committee member will expect to receive incentives, gifts or benefits arising from a business relationship(s). In any instance where an incentive, gift or benefit is offered, it will be reported accordingly and a determination made as to the appropriateness or otherwise of accepting the gift.

Instances of misconduct relating to incentives, gifts or benefits may result in disciplinary action for employees. A referral to a relevant external agency may be made in respect to misconduct matters for elected members, committee members, goods or service providers, contractors or subcontractors.

Conflicts of interest

All City employees, elected members, committee members, goods and service providers and contractors must disclose any actual, perceived or potential conflicts of interest. The City extends this requirement to all sectors of the community undertaking business with the City.
